

Go Wild in the Country!

Over 1500 school pupils in the Eastern CEF area received workshops as part of "Schools Go WILD!" delivered by Project: WILD C.I.C. and funded by the Eastern CEF.

The young people had the opportunity to meet and handle some of the scarce wildlife that lives in the area, whilst learning about the ecology and importance of our local environment for our own well being. By developing an understanding and appreciation of the importance of our green spaces, we hope to have a generation of young people who continue to care about and protect the places that matter to us all.

We will present our engagement figures; feedback we received from staff and pupils; a short film we made about the project; and the opportunity to meet some of the animals that starred in the workshops!
